

Apply to the Short Course: Data Science for Environmental Health (DaSEH)

Thanks for your interest in DaSEH. DaSEH is a educational program funded by an NIH R25 award (1R25ES035590-01). NIH sponsorship means it is largely free to learners like you. By participating, you're also helping us study how people learn environmental data science.

DaSEH is a short course consisting of two parts:

- * An online, synchronous and flexible training in R programming basics
- * An in person code-a-thon focused on GitHub and collaboration with real data

Online Course

JUNE 8 - 12; JUNE 15 - 18

10:30 am - 2 pm Pacific Time

While sessions from the online portion will be recorded, and are flexible, we ask that you try to plan to attend synchronously. The online course is 9 days of instruction on weekdays.

In-person Code-a-thon

JUNE 29 - JULY 1 (in person in Seattle)

9:30am - 4pm Pacific Time

Please ensure you can attend in Seattle for the in-person dates.

Please feel free to reach out to daseh@fredhutch.org with any questions or scheduling concerns.

Space and travel support may be limited. Please apply no later than March 15, 2026. All applicants will be notified of status by late March.

Note that we are not able to fly in participants living outside of the United States.
